

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the Alex. Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3, 1887.

Those interested in the proceedings of the executive sessions of the Senate from the Jackson to the close of the Grant administrations will soon be enabled to gratify any curiosity they may have on that subject, as under an order of the Senate those proceedings are now being prepared for publication and the work will soon be completed.

One of the many Virginians who came here on Saturday to see General Lea, the representative elect from the Alexandria district, and try to get federal positions through his influence, after accompanying the General through two of the departments, saw enough to induce him to believe that it is harder for a democrat to get an office in Washington than it is for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven; so, thanking the General for his evident good intentions, he bade him good day, and went back to his plough in Loudoun county a wiser if not a sadder man.

It is understood at the State Department that the recent seizure of the Samoan Islands by the German Government is not an infraction of any existing treaty in which the United States are a party, and that this government is not now interfering with the affairs of other countries.

The Quartermaster's Department here is charged with taking care of private horses at public expense. The charges are being investigated by the President's directions, and one discharge, that of a subordinate, has been made.

Among the strangers here to-day is Congressman Wise, of the Richmond district, Virginia. He says he is perfectly assured that the democrats of his State will elect a majority of the next legislature.

Washington Presbytery will meet in Dr. Bittenger's church, in South Washington, to-night, to prepare the record in the case of Rev. Todd, of Manassas, for presentation to the synod, which will meet in Dover, Delaware, this month. As Mr. Todd has appealed from the presbytery, the meeting of the latter body to-night will also, it is expected, appoint counsel to sustain its action in his case.

Some of the labor organizations here are talking about withdrawing from all anticipated participation in the Shepherd demonstration, as they say that when the ex-boss was Governor he made laborers work ten instead of eight hours a day and for $1.50 instead of $2 a day.

A gentleman here to-day interested in the proposed Mt. Vernon Avenue, says almost enough money has been subscribed to pay for the necessary surveys of that road, as several competent engineers have offered their services for nothing.

Commissioner Obery says the democratic associations of this and other cities should level their guns at the civil service law and not at him; that the law is in the books, and that he as a law-abiding citizen must obey it. He says the democratic party is living under a new dispensation now, and that party work can no longer be paid for with government patronage.

General Terry has telegraphed here that it will be better to suspend any hostile operations that may be contemplated against the Crow Indians. These Indians are now excited, but it is thought conciliatory measures may quiet and pacify them in two or three days.

The offerings of bonds to the Government to-day up to noon amount to $30,950 of which $25,500 were four and a half, and $1,450 were fives.

A naval commission was created to-day to inspect the ship Yantic, at Norfolk, and determine whether she shall be sold or repaired.

The building committee of the proposed Catholic University here will hold a meeting at an early day at which Mr. Frank Hume's offer of a site for the University will be considered.

Secretary Whitney will, it is thought, sign the order to-day for constructing the new six-thousand-ton ship at Norfolk.

The interstate commerce commission will recommence its formal sessions in this city on Wednesday of next week.

NEWS OF THE DAY

President Cleveland and party arrived in St. Louis Saturday night, where they were warmly received. He was given enthusiastic receptions at Indianapolis, Terre Haute and other points on his way to St. Louis.

Thomas A. Armstrong, editor and proprietor of the Pittsburgh National Labor Tribune, the leading labor journal of the country, died Saturday. In 1882 he was the gubernatorial candidate of the labor party in Pennsylvania.

At Greenville, Tenn., Saturday, W. E. T. Milburn, member of the Legislature, shot and killed a young man named William Ward. The trouble grew out of a speech made by Milburn, in which he charged that Ward's mother was a whisky seller and jail bird.

The jury at Romney, W. Va., in the case of Ann Officer, charged with the murder of Benjamin Brooks, disagreed and were discharged. It is said that ten were for clearing the prisoner and two for conviction of voluntary manslaughter. The prisoner will probably have a new trial at the February term of court.

At midnight Saturday the Rev. Mr. Cooper, curate of Cretingham, Suffolk, England, murdered Vicar Farley. He entered the Vicar's bed room and cut his throat with a razor. He then fled, but subsequently returned and was arrested. Mr. Cooper has been quite unpopular in Cretingham, and this fact, it is believed, unsettled his mind.

The police of Union Hill, N. J., prohibited a mass meeting which was to hold there yesterday afternoon, because complaints had been made that incendiary speeches would be made. When the people arrived they were driven away in all directions. Huston O'Rainer and Martin A. Hanley, master workman of district assembly 196, who were announced as speakers, were advised to leave town immediately.

POLITICAL.

John W. H. Parker has consented to become a candidate against Dr. Ewell, the democratic nominee for the House of Delegates from Accomac county.

The democrats in convention at Harrisonburg on Saturday nominated Winfield Liggett for the Senate and Thomas K. Harberger and George H. Halvey for the House.

In the republican county convention which met at Culpeper on Saturday, J. Ambler Brooke was endorsed for the Legislature in opposition to James Barbour, the democratic nominee.

At a conference at Eastville, Saturday, between republican delegates from Northampton and Accomac counties, George E. Winder was nominated as the floating legislative candidate for Accomac and Northampton.

The democratic Senatorial convention for Shenandoah and Page was held at New Market on Saturday. Dr. H. J. Smoot, of Luray, was nominated for the State Senate, and P. Magruder, a lawyer of Woodstock, for the House of Delegates.

The republicans of the legislative district composed of Campbell county and Lynchburg have nominated Jas. W. Wright for the State Senate and J. M. Wood and John Rice for the House of Delegates. It is understood that the white labor people will endorse the democratic ticket.

Letter from Richmond.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

RICHMOND, October 1.—These are the happy days of the political bumper. Grand rallies every night, at which you are not only filled with political clap trap, but supplied with sandwiches, beer and in some cases even with whiskey and cigars, to say nothing of music and free street car tickets, etc. And yet with all these good things thrown in as extras the meetings are only slimly attended.

The primary comes off next Thursday. There are eight or nine candidates in the field, but with one or two exceptions they represent less than most any eight or nine men that could have presented themselves. Some of them are not even known by sight on the same block in which they reside. The fact is, going to the Legislature now-a-days doesn't pay. There is very little honor and less pay in it. No political prophet can name the ticket that will be nominated next Thursday. The nearest that can be got at is that Col. Buford will be one, and possibly Starke another. Of the other candidates, Lyon G. Tyler and John A. Curtis only are known, and they have been defeated so often that very few people will think it worth while to vote for them.

The reformers will name their ticket on the 13th. It will be composed of two who have formerly been democrats and two who have heretofore affiliated with the republicans. The reformers will select twelve names, and the joint executive committee—republican and reform—will scratch alternately till only four are left, which will be the ticket for the legislature. Four of the following will certainly be the reform ticket: John E. Parish, democrat, member of Council from Marshall ward, tobaccoist; John S. Dodson, republican, proprietor American Hotel; John Ryan, republican, in soap business; Ira Bland, democrat, member Council and blacks; John Greaves, democrat, pressman; James Bahen, president Common Council and mugwump. Dr. Bass is also spoken of in connection with same.

The reformers, if elected, will not be required to go into caucus, but will be expected to support the republican nominees for U. S. Senate and basement offices, and in return for which they are to have the entire support of the republican party next spring. There is no use disguising the fact that hundreds of working people who in the past have been staunch democrats are not going to vote with the party at this time, but whether this defection will be large enough to overcome the 2,200 democratic majority will be made known in a few weeks.

The republicans are better organized than ever before. They have had all the registration books copied, have campaign funds on hand ample sufficient (so they say) to run the election, and promise the reformers to cast 6,000 votes. The reformers say they can easily cast 3,000. The vote in the city very seldom goes over 13,000. If these figures are anywhere near correct the chances for the democrats here, to say the least, are poor indeed.

The white republicans, with Capt. Wise on top, have organized a tariff club. They have held several meetings this week, each one with increased attendance. This club claims to be non-political, but simply in the interest of all who are in favor of protective tariff. The colored element is excluded because a large number of democrats here are protectionists, but will not attend mixed meetings, and hence the exclusion of the "mokes." The object of the promoters of this tariff is to get democrats to vote with republicans on tariff measures, and by and by get them so immersed in these political schemes that they will forget they are democrats.

Should the State go republican Capt. Wise will lead the Mahone forces, and in the event of Gen. Mahone slipping up in capturing the Senatorial pitting, why Gen. Mahone is to keep Wise. The opposition to Mahone will attempt to adopt in caucus the third rule, and should they succeed Wise will have a better chance for the Senate than Mahone.

The Evening Herald has been bought out by the Labor Herald Printing Company, and will be published, commencing on Monday afternoon, as the Evening Herald and as a two-cent paper. It will be independent in politics, or claim to be, but the organ of the reform party.

We expect 50,000 visitors here during the fair, and delegations from your antique city had better make early application for accommodation. It is the regret of the many friends of Judge Stuart here that he has declined to come back. His polished manners and bright intellect and always ready for your proclivities made him invaluable to his own party, and the proverbial courtesy with which he treated those opposed to him politically gained for him the esteem of every heart. But it is not too late yet for him to change the occasion of death, and believe that he will even consent to make a sacrifice for his party, and if he doesn't I will in future put political patriotism as political bosh. Judge Stuart has more influence now than any (man or woman) could name have been mentioned as his successor could possibly obtain in fifteen years' continuous service. If you want success, when you get a good representative keep him. And aint things just a little bit billions in your town to be swapping horses when the river is rising?

Dr. A. V. M. Triplett, a prominent physician of Culpeper, died there on Friday. He was a brother of G. S. P. Triplett, a member of the democratic State committee. Dr. Triplett's remains, under escort of Masons, were carried Saturday night to Mount Jackson, his former home, for interment.

Miss Mattie Lou Carnelfx, who was arrested in Lynchburg last Monday for passing a raised check and for attempting to have a forged draft for $15,000 cashed at the National Exchange Bank, was taken before Judge Latham on Saturday on a writ of habeas corpus and discharged on the ground of insanity.

I have known Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for years as a good remedy for the diseases for which it is recommended, and have used it with much benefit in my own family.

TO-DAY'S TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Foreign News.

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—Signor Crispi, the Italian prime minister, has left Friedrichsruhe after having conferred with Prince Bismarck. He was accompanied to the depot by Prince Bismarck and his son Count Herbert Bismarck, the Imperial Foreign Minister, who walked with him to the door of the saloon carriage in which he left. Count de Launay, the Italian ambassador, has also left Friedrichsruhe and returned to Berlin.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The latest news from Samoa is that the Germans took King Malietoa on board a gun-boat for the purpose of exiling him on account of his failure to prevent his people from robbing German plantations. King Malietoa had previously written to the British and American Consuls expressing disappointment at the absence of their support.

DUBLIN, Oct. 3.—Several branches of the National League held meetings yesterday in the Mitchelstown district. In one case hundreds of people evaded the police and went to a fortified house outside the town where a meeting took place. Mr. Mandeville, who was tried with Mr. O'Brien for using seditious language and sentenced to two months imprisonment, but released on bail, presided and made a speech, in which he declared that it was impossible to defend the league. Resolutions were passed strongly condemning the Government's interference with public meetings and the freedom of speech.

Policeman Killed.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—Shortly before one o'clock this morning Policeman Wm. D. Johnson was shot and almost instantly killed at 33d street and Powelton avenue, West Philadelphia, by an unknown man. A large number of small burglaries have occurred in this part of the city during the past summer, which have caused much annoyance to the residents, while urging the police to greater vigilance. Last night Johnson met a suspicious looking individual prowling about near the place where the shooting occurred, and accosting him asked his business. The stranger's only answer was two shots from a large calibre weapon, both of which took effect in the region of the heart. The officer fired once, but it is believed, without result. The murderer made good his escape. A man who gave the name of Thomas Flanagan was arrested this morning by Officer McKelvey on suspicion of being the man who shot Johnson. He will be given a hearing later in the day.

Fatal Shooting.

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 3.—Late Saturday B. F. Keagan, a deputy sheriff of Harris county, shot and killed John Millenger, of the firm of M. Millenger & Bro., one of the leading business concerns of Houston. The shooting resulted from a quarrel over a grocery bill amounting to $19.40. Keagan's wife sent after a supply of groceries, which was refused by Millenger's clerk. Keagan visited Millenger's store later in the day and demanded an explanation. Hot words passed and Keagan slapped Millenger, who clanked with him. Keagan then drew his revolver and fired three shots, the first striking Millenger in the heart. When Keagan was arrested immediately after the shooting he was found to be wounded in the thigh. The inquest failed to show that Millenger was armed.

Hog Cholera.

WABASH, Ind., Oct. 3.—The hog cholera which broke out in this county last month is rapidly spreading, and apprehensions are felt for all the swine in the northern part of the county. In one neighborhood five miles north of this city four hundred valuable hogs have died in the last three weeks. Every effort possible has been made to check the scourge, but to no effect. The healthiest animals appear most liable to attack.

Personal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Sir Thomas Gratian Esmonde, M. P. for St. Patrick's (Division, Dublin, and Arthur O'Connor, M. P. for East Donegal, arrived by the steamer Arizona this morning. They come to America as the representatives of the Irish parliamentary party to explain the condition of affairs at home, to thank the American people for their support in the past and to ask them to continue it.

Death of an Army Officer.

FARMINGTON, Me., Oct. 3.—Capt. Samuel Munson, U. S. A., died at his mother's home here yesterday, aged 53. He had been in service 27 years, being transferred to the regulars at the close of the war. At the time of his death he was Captain of the 9th U. S. Infantry, stationed in Arizona, but had been on leave of absence on account of sickness.

Denial.

DUBLIN, Oct. 3.—Mr. Gibson, the Irish Solicitor General, denies the statement of Mr. William O'Brien that the former on the day of O'Brien's conviction at Mitchelstown telegraphed to the Crown counsel that the Government would lose the case and would disbar Mr. Harrington, defendant's counsel. The Crown counsel also denies that he received any such telegram.

Plead Guilty.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Jacob Simm, 50 years old, who worked on the elevated railroad, pleaded guilty to-day in the court of general sessions to committing a heinous assault on his own daughter, and was sentenced to State prison for 10 years.

Chicago's Semi-Centennial.

The President in St. Louis.

EFFECTS OF A SHOCK OF ELECTRICITY.

Mary Harmon, daughter of a farmer near Cleveland, O., was engaged to be married to Jacob Eberlein. About six weeks ago the young couple went to the city. One of the young man's friends worked in one of the electric-light establishments, and they went to see the machinery. While passing through the shop Miss Harmon received a severe shock of electricity and fell to the floor. In a few minutes she recovered sufficiently to be removed from the place, and was taken to her home. Medical aid was summoned. For four days the girl lay paralyzed. Then she regained the use of her limbs, but immediately began to lose flesh. The hair on the left side of her head turned gray and began falling out. After four weeks she was able to be about and able to attend to most of her household duties, but in that time she had been transformed from a young, handsome girl into a feeble old woman. Her form, which had been plump and rounded, is thin and bent, and the skin on her face and body is dry and wrinkled. Her voice is harsh and cracked, and no one, to look at her, would imagine that she was less than sixty years of age. The physicians claim that the electric current communicated directly with the principal nerves of the spine and left side of the head, and that the shock almost destroyed their vitality.

THE HILL-SHARON CASE.—Ex-Judge D.

S. Terry, one of the counsel for Sarah Althea Hill in the well known suit against the executor of the late Senator Sharon, has filed an affidavit in the Senatorial Supreme Court in which it is charged that one of the defendant's counsel offered Judge Sullivan a bribe to decide the case in favor of the defendant. Terry, it will be remembered, married the fair plaintiff a few months ago. The situation has created considerable excitement, as it may lead to a fatal encounter. The denial of Judge Sullivan that such an offer was made, and Judge Evans's denial that he ever made such an offer, places Terry in the position of a wanton slanderer. Terry bears the reputation of being a truthful man, and he is also known to be a dangerous man to cross, as was proven in years gone by in his duel with Broderick, in which the latter was killed. Further developments are anxiously awaited.

Mrs. W. W. Woolsey, wife of a wealthy planter of Aiken, S. C., fell from a third-story window of Dr. Spier's medical institute in Brooklyn, N. Y., yesterday, and died a few hours later.
